$4,000,000 TAX FIGHT IS WON BY STATE AGAINST THE NORTHWESTERN LIFE CO.

United States Supreme Court in Decision for Wisconsin

IS FOUGHT BY DREW

Company Has Protested Payment of Taxes Each Year

Word was received here today that the Wisconsin license fee law imposing a tax on life insurance companies which do business in the state, was held constitutional today by the United States supreme court in proceedings brought by the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company.

Decrees dismissing suits by the company to recover $1,300,000 paid in taxes in 1912 and 1913 were sustained. Two other suits now pending in lower courts, each seeking to recover upwards of $1,000,000 as well as the rights of the state to future revenues totalling $500,000 annually are affected. The interest and principal involved in the suit amount to $4,000,000.

The case was presented to the federal tribunal three months ago by Deputy Attorney General Walter Drew of Madison. By this decision the state will not have to remit the money.

In paying its taxes of about $500,000 annually the Northwestern Mutual Life of Milwaukee for several years protested that these taxes were exorbitant and entered a protest each time. The matter was finally taken to the Wisconsin supreme court by the insurance company, which sought to re-collect these sums from the state covering a period of several years. The supreme court of Wisconsin held the law valid.

The Northwestern Mutual then appealed to the United States supreme court, which held the law legal.

Presentation of this case to the federal supreme court was made by Mr. Drew under a special appointment of the governor. It was decided that as he had presented the matter successfully in the lower court he should represent the state before the federal tribunal.

"I am gratified with the decision," said Mr. Drew today. "It has been a long legal battle but the state has established its rights to these tax moneys."

The 1915 session of the legislature changed the insurance tax law so that the Northwestern Mutual has had little complaint. The decision was the subject of much comment at the capitol today.

SAYS PHILIPP IS GETTING DRY

Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League Head Makes Annual Report

MILWAUKEE—"In the past our governor has been able to 'jump out of the frying pan into the fire' and was wet enough to put the fire out. He is getting no dryer fast, but the fires, at least, are becoming hotter," says R. P. Hutton, state superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league in his annual report to the state trustees of the league at their annual meeting tomorrow in this city at the Y. M. C. A. at 10:30 a. m.

He calls attention to the fact that the brewers and retail liquor dealers viciously fought Lenroot, and points to the fact that the 22 wettest counties in the state went against him.

The report of Supt. Sutton shows that 12 out of 16 holdover senate senators voted for the dry referendum. If these all vote for ratification the drys need secure but five out of the 17 vacancies to have a senate majority. If the two senators who voted to postpone the vote till 1920 are counted adversely, still the drys need but seven out of 17. The drys have tech edge in the senate, and the assembly map looks equally good, he says.

He will point out that the addition of 100,000 net to the dry population of the state by the local option elections of this spring was so distributed as to add materially to the assured dry vote in the assembly.

"CURFEW SHALL NOT RING" AT WAUSAU

WAUSAU—"Curfew shall not ring tonight," Mayor John I. Sell of Wausau exclaimed as he issued an order discontinuing the ringing of the nine o'clock curfew here until next fall. No reason was given for the action.

SMILES OF TROOPS GIVE NEW IMPETUS FOR ENLISTMENTS

Impetus to the recruiting drive which started Monday at the local army headquarters was given by the appearance of the 161st artillery and Corporal Matthew Kurth in charge reports five men signed up to fight for Uncle Sam shortly after the troops had left the city.

"They look good to me," said one husky applicant, pointing in the direction the soldiers had taken. "If those boys can smile the way they have since they hit this berg, it must be a pretty good life. I want to help our Uncle, so jus put me down."

The drive for recruits will continue to May 31. Men are needed in the infantry, cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery, signal corps, engineers, quartermaster corps and medical troops.

ROBERTS CALLED LIAR BY GRACE LUSK'S FATHER

Outbreak Comes in Court While Cow Doctor Testifies

WAUKESHA — "That's a lie!" cried A. P. Lusk, aged father of the defendant, halting the testimony of Dr. David Roberts, appearing as a witness against Grace Lusk at her trial for slaying Mrs. Mary Newman Roberts, today.

The outbreak, which was similar to that of his daughter last week, came while Dr. Roberts was telling of meeting Miss Lusk on a suburban train bound for Milwaukee. He said that she was accompanied by her father and that before they reached Milwaukee she gave him a note asking him to meet her at a hotel at 5 o'clock.

When he met her at the hotel, he said, he asked her what she had done with her father. She replied that she had bought him a hat and sent him back to Waukesha, the witness said. Dr. Roberts testified that he had then said to her that that was no way to treat her father and that he would not take her to dinner. She replied, according to the witness: "Well, if you don't some one else will," and named a married man in Milwaukee.

A new interest developed today with news that the state has summoned W. H. Steiner, an agent of the department of justice, as a witness. Steiner took a statement from Miss Lusk as to her meetings with Dr. Roberts in Chicago and at other points. She is said to have stayed, as was related by Dr. Roberts on the stand, that she paid her own traveling expenses and hotel bill.

When Dr. Roberts resumed the stand at the opening of court this morning he was forced to again go over details of his meeting in Chicago with Miss Lusk. He admitted registering at a Chicago hotel with Miss Lusk as man and wife in January, 1917.

Q. "Who paid the hotel bill?" Attorney Lockney demanded.

A. "I did."

Q. "Do you remember any discussion or thing which happened at this meeting?"

A. "If you will ask a pointed question I will answer it whether I wish to or not."

Attorney Lockney declared that he was satisfied with that answer for the present.

Q. "Did you pay her railway fare?"

A. "I may have."

Q. "Did you ever pay her fare?"

A. "I often paid her fare between Chicago and Milwaukee. I do not remember ever paying her fare between Waukesha and Chicago."

Q. "Did you ever give her money to reimburse her for paying her own fare from Milwaukee to Chicago?"

A. "I gave her money, but it was to do with what she pleased."

Q. "Did you not tell her the money was to reimburse her as you could not pay her fare to Chicago without rendering yourself liable?"

A. "I do not remember that I did."

Dr. Roberts then described a trip to the county line which he made in an automobile on May 17 at the invitation of Miss Lusk but only after she had promised "that there would be no quarrels." The school teacher, he testified, demanded that he swear that "he loved her more than any woman in the world." When he refused he said she hit him in the eye with all her strength.

"Did you see her again?" he was asked.

"Not out of that eye," he replied.

4 STUDENTS IN NARROW ESCAPE ON MENDOTA

Two Men and Two Women Caught in Storm While Sailing

LAUNCH TO RESCUE

In Danger of Being Dashed Against Rocks at Maple Bluff

The timely arrival of a launch off Maple Bluff during the fierce storm that blew up over Lake Mendota late Sunday afternoon probably saved the lives of four university students. The students, two men and two women, were sailing for the bay between Maple Bluff and Bernard's park in the strong gale that struck the lake like a cyclone, but when just off Maple Bluff, the mast and rigging was torn off of the boat, and the ship rode on with the waves.

Efforts of the two men students, Gunnar Gunderson, Christiana, Norway, and Phil Waite, Oshkosh, to stop the riding of the boat toward the rocks of Maple Bluff were of no avail. There was no place to land, and all they could do was get the broken mast and sail around on the other side of the sailboat where it would act as a sort of drift anchor. This did not slacken the speed of the craft toward the rocks. Life preservers were strapped onto the coers, but they would have been of little avail in saving them from being dashed up against the Maple Bluff precipice.

The Cardinal launch of the university life-saving station witnessed the accident to the sailboat and started out toward the bluff. But the sea was too heavy for the Cardinal and something went wrong with the engine which put it out of commission. When the sailboat and its load of four was about 100 yards from the bluff, another launch reached the scene, and after about ten minutes of maneuvering, the students got into the launch, and the broken-down sailboat rode on and dashed to pieces against the rocks of the bluff. The launch weathered the storm across the lake and took the students to Bernard's park.

Gunderson, a native of Norway, who was in charge of the boat, is an expert seaman, and has a large ocean yacht of his own, in which he has weathered many sea storms. Of Sunday's sudden storm on the lake he says: "The sea out there was like that of an ocean storm, and we were powerless as soon as the mast broke."

LUFBERRY, U. S. FLYER, KILLED

Brought Down by Germans Carrying Machine Gun

(By the Associated Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sunday—Major Raoul Lufberry, of the American flying corps, has been killed in an aerial battle. He will be buried tomorrow with full military honors in which both American and French troops will participate. Lufberry's home was in Wallingford, Conn.

The German machine which brought Lufberry down, which was armed with two machine guns with an operator for each piece, apparently escaped.

Lufberry's only wound, aside from those received when he crashed to earth, was a bullet hole through the thumb. Apparently the same bullet punctured one of the gasoline tanks of his machine.

The German machine was under heavy anti-aircraft fire several times, both before and after the air fight, and one explosion of a shell upset the enemy plane, but it managed to straighten out again.

It was about ten o'clock this morning when a German triplane suddenly descended from the clouds, apparently because of engien trouble, until it was only some 1,500 meters over the city of Toul. The American flyers were on the alert and some of them headed for the fighting line to await the enemy on his return.

Lufberry and the pilot of another machine made after the German, who quickly ran away from the direction of the line, the two American machines following him. Eight miles away from the enemy's line Lufberry was seen to attack from under the tail, but then he drew off as if his machine gun had jammed. Two minutes later he attacked again from the same position and almost immediately his machine burst into flames.

Exclude Coal Dealers Who Refused to Join Pact From Patriotic "Ads"

Sinaiko Brothers Solicited And Then Left Out Because Their Competitors Objected

Madison coal dealers, belonging to a trade organization, have refused to allow Sinaiko Bros., coal dealers, to participate with them in the patriotic advertising which has been done under the name of the local dealers of Madison.

Members of the association are reticent in discussing the affair and several stated that they had no knowledge of the incident.

Several weeks ago a local newspaper solicited a full page Liberty Loan ad from Madison coal dealers. It was represented that all of the coal dealers were coming in. Among those solicited was the firm of Sinaiko Bros.

Sinaiko Bros. agreed to take the space and the ad was to be contributed "for the cause of democracy and the overthrow of Prussian autocracy" by the following dealers.

Conklin & Sons Co.
C. F. Cooley.
Madison Fuel Co.
Drives & Struck.
Castle & Doyle.
Waterman & Son.
Sinaiko Bros.

The ad appeared on April 28. When it appeared, however, the name of Sinaiko Bros. had been omitted.

Inquiry on the part of Sinaiko Bros. from the newspaper brought the reply "that the other coal dealers had objected to the name Sinaiko Bros. appearing," and for that reason it had been omitted.

Yesterday the coal dealers had another full page ad for the navy recruiting, but Sinaiko Bros. were not solicited for this ad.

Sinaiko Bros.' firm has been an independent and has refused to join the association of which the other dealers are members.

Several years ago Sinaiko Bros. were asked to join the association by a Madison coal dealer. The invitation was extended on the day before bids were opened for the city contract to supply a number of municipal buildings with coal.

The Sinaikos were told that if they would join the association that a certain amount of the city business would be allotted them. It was understood that the Sinaikos were to agree to uphold prices agreed to by other members of the association.

The invitation was refused and the Sinaikos have since refused to join the association.

The following are some interviews from Madison coal dealers on the subject:

EMIL J. FRAUTSCHI
(Manager of the Madison Fuel Co.)

"I don't know anything about it," said Mr. Frautschi. "I was asked to take space on the representation that the other coal dealers were coming in. Personally I will not take any more of that kind of advertising. I believe that more good can be accomplished by having that money go directly to the government."

"Was the action toward Sinaiko Bros. due to the fact that they have refused to join your association and enter into price fixing agreements?" Mr. Frautschi was asked.

"The government is fixing the price," responded Mr. Frautschi.

"How about prior to the time that prices were fixed by the government?"

"There has been no agreement. I will go into court on that. But I know nothing of the whole affair."

J. W. CONKLIN
(Conklin & Sons Co.)

"I don't know anything about it," said Mr. Conklin. "I know that our firm has been solicited to take advertising of this kind."

"The statement has been made, Mr. Conklin, that the reason the coal dealers asked to have Sinaiko Bros. excluded from the advertising is because the Sinaikos refused to enter into price fixing agreements prior to the government fixed prices?" he was asked.

"There has never been any price fixing," responded Mr. Conklin.

H. G. WATERMAN
(Waterman & Sons)

"Sinaiko Bros. have always refused to associate with the rest of the dealers and have refused to join our association," said Mr. Waterman.

"What are the purposes of this association?" was asked of Mr. Waterman.

"Oh, they are of a social nature," replied Mr. Waterman.

"Is that all?"

"Well, they are of a business nature, too. "Sinaiko Bros. have been asked to join several times and take part in our association. But you can't compete with a Jew. They buy any old thing and sell at any old price. To my knowledge I know they were asked to join the Illinois and Wisconsin Coal Dealers' association."

"What kind of an organization is that?" Mr. Waterman was asked.

"That is an organization to better conditions in the coal trade," Mr. Waterman replied.

"But I don't know much about this advertising," he continued. "They get one in by saying all the others are coming in and I don't think much of it."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — President Wilson today signed the Overman bill giving the President broad powers to coordinate government departments.

PRAGUE IS UNDER SEIGE

Bohemian Capital Scene of Anti-German Demonstrations

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—A state of siege has been proclaimed at Prague, the Bohemian capital, by the police and the military garrison has been reinforced. These counter measures followed demonstrations of an anti-German character in which Czechs and Jugo-Slavs paraded through the streets shouting: "Long live Wilson, Clemenceau and Lloyd-George."

At a performance in the Bohemian National theater speeches violently attacking Germany were delivered and the renewal of the alliance between Germany and Austria-Hungary was denounced. Several deputies addressed the crowd, urging resistance to the end and the sacrifice of wealth and blood for Bohemia.

The Jugo-Slavs who have participated in the Bohemian festivities were ordered to leave the city. Crowds singing patriotic songs accompanied them to the railway station.

MADISON CHEERS ARTILLERY ON DEPARTURE

Thousands Wish Soldiers Godspeed as They Leave on March to Sparta

ROYALLY ENTERTAINED

Citizens Leave Nothing Undone to Show Men Excellent Time

"You don't know how hard it is to leave Madison," shouted one soldier, astride his horse as the 161st artillery under command of Colonel Ward passed along Pinckney street on its way to Sparta after camping over Sunday at the fair grounds and Monona park.

This seemed to be the opinion of the 3,000 or more men who made up the brigade. Madison entertained the men royally. Nothing was left undone to add to their comfort during their stay in the city and as the long line of khaki-clad men, some mounted, others on foot and others riding field pieces, passed along the streets, thousands cheered and wished them Godspeed.

With a bright sun shimmering down on the clear-eyed fighters for Uncle Sam, and Old Glory swinging to the cool morning breeze as battery after battery moved, the realization that the pride of the country was passing and that they were the men who would fight for democracy was pressed closer home. Tear-dimmed eyes shone with pride as women waved goodbye and the shouts of encouragement from the men who were choked with emotion.

331st Leads

The 331st regiment, which is composed of Wisconsin troops, had the place of honor in leaving the city and followed the engineers. Many of the men of this regiment are from Madison and Dane county and relatives and friends were in the crowds to watch the departure.

Two bands belonging to the unit played as the soldiers marched along the square. The music quickened the steps of the men on foot and sent a thrill through the watching crowds.

From the time the soldiers arrived Saturday afternoon until taps sounded Sunday night Madison acted as host. The city was turned over to the men and appreciation of the efforts to show them a good time was voiced every time an opportunity was given.

Thousands visited the camps Sunday morning and afternoon and Sunday evening men on leave filled the streets around the square.

Owners of automobiles picked up groups of soldiers and showed them the town; cigarettes and cigars were given to all who wanted them and refreshments were served by the Red Cross and by individuals. Boxes of candy and cakes disappeared like magic before the hungry men who had been living on army fare for several months.

Officers Thank City

"We are indeed thankful for the royal treatment given the troops during their stay in your city," said Colonel Ward before leaving camp this morning. "This has been one of the pleasant features of the march and we will ever hold a warm spot in our hearts for Madison. Your city is beautiful; your citizens patriots and the treatment accorded us by all with whom we had to deal was most excellent. The boys had one of the best places to camp on the route and the rest they had will put them in excellent shape for the remainder of the hike."

One of the big features of Sunday was the concert given in the afternoon at the capitol by the army band. Thousands filled the park at the Monona avenue entrance and the streets were thronged with automobiles.

The line of march after leaving the city will be through Token Creek; to Poynette, Portage, Kilbourn, Mauston, Hustler and thence to Sparta.

LARGE LOSSES IN RECENT DRIVE SHATTERED NERVE OF MANY TUETON DIVISIONS

Kaiser's Command Holds Back as Long as Possible to Gain Strength

ALLIES ARE PREPARED

Americans Are Working in Harmony With French and British

(By the Associated Press)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE (Sunday)—The Germans apparently are awaiting the return of the offensive spirit among some of their best divisions, severely tried during the first stages of the offensive before re-opening operations.

Large numbers of their units lost a considerable portion of their effectives in the heavy fighting in Picardy and Flanders and, despite the fact that the ranks have been filled immediately from depots in the rear, strong impressions of the terrific ordeal through which they passed are still retained by them. Most of these shattered divisions have enjoyed only three or four weeks' rest since, which experience has demonstrated, is hardly sufficient time in which to restore fighting qualities.

The German command knows this perfectly well, and therefore, is holding back as long as possible before attacking so as to have more recuperated units available to add to those which have not participated in the fighting up to this time.

It seems probable when the Germans commence heavy fighting again they may extend the battle front further south and east toward the district lines between Laon and Rheims where the front is well served by railroads which would enable them to attempt a surprise upon the allies by making a big demonstration there with the intention of attracting General Foch's reserves while they carry out their main effort further north.

The allies, however, are well prepared for eventualities. The Americans are working in the greatest harmony with both the French and the British and the most complete confidence among officers and men in all the allied armies.

The English Report

LONDON—The German artillery developed increased activity last night along the front between Albert and Bucquoy, the war office announces.

The statement follows:

"We captured a few prisoners yesterday as a result of a successful raid carried out in the Albert sector. A raid attempted by the enemy north of Hinges was repulsed with heavy loss to the hostile raiding party.

"The hostile artillery activity increased considerably last night on the Albert-Bucquoy front."

Americans Appear

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, via Ottawa—Parts of northern France have become within a short period thickly populated with American fighting troops, and great American training camps and depots are springing up where two months ago only British khaki was normally seen.

The outstanding impression of American organization may be summed up in one word—thoroughness. One is conscious at every turn of the resolve of the Americans to fight until victory is achieved.

Intensified training is being tirelessly carried out in combination with the British and the French. Large formations are steadily being drafted to augment the Americans already in the fighting line, and these are immediately being replaced by still larger numbers.

The French Report

PARIS (Sunday)—The official statement from the war office today reads:

"The artillery on both sides was active north of the Avre. French patrols were active in the sector of Hangard and captured prisoners.

"Enemy surprise attacks against our positions on the lower Ailette, in the Argonne and in the Woevre were broken up by our fire. We brought back prisoners in raids east of Rheims. There is nothing to report on the remainder of the front."

WASHINGTON — Aside from aerial activity on both sides, yesterday was a quiet day at all points occupied by American troops, says General Pershing in his official communique transmitted today to the war department.

"Our aviators brought down two hostile machines," it says.

LONDON — The Turks have resumed the offensive all along the Caucasian front and have occupied Van, says a dispatch from Tiflis, dated May 12. Another Armenian massacre has been begun. The negotiations for a separate peace between th Caucasian diet and the Ottoman government have been broken off on

AUTO HITS CAR; WARRANT ISSUED

Officials Alleged Sun Prairie Man Was Reckless on Avenue

As a result of the accident on University avenue, Saturday night, in which an automobile crashed into a University avenue car, slightly injuring one person, a warrant was issued Monday morning for the arrest of W. H. Angell, Sun Prairie, charging him with operating an automobile while intoxicated. He will be arraigned in Superior court, Tuesday morning.

The man hurt, according to the motorcycle officer who secured the warrant, was a passenger in the automobile and sustained injuries about the hands and face when the machine crashed into the car. He left the scene of the accident for a physician's office to have his injuries treated before his name could be ascertained.

According to the officer, Angell was driving his machine along University avenue at a high rate of speed and careening from side to side. As the car was approaching, the officer alleges, Angell drove almost into the front end and then swerving just as the car reached him, turned out and crashed into the side of the street car.

Daily Weather Story

Fair tonight and Tuesday. General west to northwest winds this afternoon becoming easterly Tuesday.

Highest temperature in the last 24 hours 77 at 4 p. m. The lowest 49 at 6 a. m. The rainfall the last 24 hours was 24.

The disturbance that was in the Rocky Mountain region on Saturday passed over Wisconsin yesterday and is now in eastern Ontario. It was attended by thunderstorms in the central valleys and lake region and is followed by much cooler weather in the northwest. Frost occurred in North Dakota this morning. The same thing is again following in the Rocky Mountain region and southern winds prevail on plains and light showers in the north Pacific states.

MT. HOREB TO HAVE AUCTION FOR RED CROSS

$3,000 Worth of Farm Produce to be Sold for the Cause

ALEXANDER TO SPEAK

H. S. Schwenn and Adolph Elver Will be Auctioneers

A large sum of money for the Red Cross is expected to be realized at the auction sale which is to be held by the townships of Springdale and Blue Mounds at Boeck's park, Mount Horeb on Tuesday, when articles valued at $3,000 are placed on sale.

In connection with the sale, which is to be conducted by H. S. Schwenn and Adolph Elver, auctioneers, and Sidney Sylvester, clerk, the Mount Horeb band will render a number of selections. Dr. A. S. Alexander of the agricultural department of the University of Wisconsin, will make an address. A dinner will be served on the grounds, the proceeds of which will also be donated to the Red Cross.

The following articles will be placed on sale: 84 chickens, 7 sacks of barley, 7 calves—three of which are pure bred registered Holstein bulls—donated by Lukken, Fred Heuser and Peter Lukken, 2 pigs, one dozen photographs, 35 sacks of oats, 116 dozen eggs, one load of hay, 2 loads of wood, 2 tons of coal, one side delivery hay rage, 7 rugs, 25 bushels of potatoes, one peck of clover seed, 2 stoves, one corn cultivator, one walking cultivator, one phonograph, one box of butter, one box of brick cheese, one-half ton of bran and a large assortment of home canned fruits and pickles.

Besides the above the committee in charge of the sale announce that there will be groceries, dry goods, furniture, books, jewelry and hardware on the list of goods to be auctioned off, and the housewife can buy almost anything that is needed in the home.

DIVISION OFFICES OPENED HERE

Milwaukee Road Officials Occupy Their New Quarters

Under the supervision of Superintendent J. A. MacDonald, the Prairie du Chien and Mineral Point divisional headquarters of the Milwaukee road were established in Madison on Saturday night.

Mr. Mac Donald will be located in his new office in the west Madison yards Monday morning and will have as his chief clerk Otto Kloetzner. Besides Mr. MacDonald, Trainmaster R. E. Eelzer, Master Mechanic A. J. Klumb, Travelling Engineer H. T. Dersch and Chief Train Dispatcher Charles H. Agner will be located here.

The change in the location of the office from Milwaukee to Madison is made to more centrally locate the office of the divisional headquarters.

MENASHA—Illegal net fishing in Lake Winnebago is fast disappearing and much of this is to be accredited to the work of the Twin City Fish and Game Protective association which has been especially active since its organization.

MEAL PERIOD IS SUBJECT OF HEARING

Industrial Commission Sends Out Notice of Conference

The Industrial Commission has announced two public hearings to be held in the City Attorney's office in the city hall, Milwaukee, on May 28 and 29, upon the length of the meal period for women. An order has been proposed by the Woman's eDpartment of the Industrial Commission which provides that in Milwaukee manufacturing plants where a room conveniently located has been adequately equiped with a lunch room, the lunch period may be forty-five minutes. In restaurants thorughout the state, the proposed order provides, that the meal period may be 30 minutes if the stretch of labor between meals does not exceed five hours, and if the employes eat their meals upon the premises. In all other places of employment to which the women's hours of labor law applies at least one hour during each day and night must be allowed for dinner or other meals.

The statutory meal period in this state is now one hour for all women employes. It is especially provided in the law, however that the Industrial Commission may after investigation adopt general or special orders modifying this statutory rule; hence a number of employers have been heretofore granted permission for a meal period of less than an hour. A still larger number of employers have shortened the meal period without consulting the Industrial Commission. The situation in the state as regards the meal period for women is such that it is thought advisable to adopt some general rule upon this subject which can be enforced uniformly and without discrimination. The commission invites all persons interested to express their views upon this subject.

The hearing announced for May 28 is for manufactories and laundries and all other places of employment to which the women's hours of labor law applies other than restaurants. On May 29 the application of the proposed order to restaurants will be considered.

ITALY DAY IS TO BE SCENES OF CELEBRATION

Gov. Philipp Gets Telegram From Charles E. Hughes Urging Action

Governor Philipp has received the following telegram from Judge Charles E. Hughes of New York.

"For your information, May 24, anniversary of Italy's entrance in war will be celebrated throughout the United States as Italy Day. Everyone will be asked to wear a flower and write to friends in Italy on that day as a sign of appreciation of what Italy has done. We will hold mass meeting in New York to express American friendship. The president of the United States has kindly consented to act as patron of the celebration. We hope that you will se your way clear to direct public attention to the celebration in your city. Kindly wire fully any action taken.

Charles E. Hughes,
President Italy-America Society,
165 Broadway, New York.

The governor suggests that the people carry out the wishes of the association headed by Judge Hughes, and urges that meetings be held wherever there is an Italian settlement. The Governor believes that the American people should show the proper appreciation of Italy's friendly cooperation in the war.

$56,000 GIVEN BILLY SUNDAY

Free Will Offering at Final Services Runs to Thousands

CHICAGO— The money raised for free will offering to Rev. William A. (Billy) Sunday, the evangelist, at the close last night of his ten weeks' meeting here was $56,000. This money, the evangelist announced, will be given to the Pacific Garden mission of this city, where he first became associated with church work.

LESS BREAD MEANS LESS RESISTANCE

(By the Associated Press)

AMSTERDAM—In commenting upon the reduction of the German bread ration from 200 to 160 gram (5.6 ounces) daily, the socialist newspaper Vorwaerts of Berlin says:

"The proposal and moral power of the people for resistance are visibly diminished by these new privations."

STORM DOES BIG DAMAGE TO FRUIT TREES

Hail Causes Thousands of Dollars Ruin in Middle West

MINNESOTA HARD HIT

Cloudburst Causes Big Losses in Duluth; Radio Station is Hit

(By the Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE — Damage that may amount to thousands of dollars was caused in Wisconsin yesterday as the result of one of the most severe rain and hail storms in recent years. The heaviest loss, it is thought, will be to fruit trees. Available information indicates that crops will suffer as a result of the torrential rain, which in many localities washed out the seeds when the fields were converted into miniature lakes.

Cloudburst at Duluth

DULUTH—A cloudburst and a hail storm caused loss in Duluth last night. Freshets swept away numerous outbuildings, while wind and hail damaged numerous windows. Part of a street was washed out. During the electrical disturbance Jerome Shannon, an operator at the naval radio station, was knocked unconscious by lightning. The radio station was struck four times and the operators vacated it.

Trouble at Brainerd

BRAINERD, Minn. — Damage amounting to several thousand dollars was caused here yesterday by a heavy storm. The $3,000 barn of William Hildebrandt was blown down and the Southeast Long lake and South Long lake telephone lines were paralyzed. At Verndale the wind blew down barns, shade trees, and lightning killed eight pigs and three cows belonging to John Richards at Fort Ripley.

DONALD OUT OF RACE FOR NELSON'S SEAT

Former Secretary of State to do Army Y. M. C. A. Work in France

John S. Donald, former secretary of state, who had entered his candidacy for congress against John M. Nelson, the present incumbent, announces that he will retire from the contest to enter army Y. M. C. A. work. Mr. Donald intends to go to France early in July in charge of some branch of the Y. M. C. A. activities during the summer.

The retirement of Donald from the third congressional race leaves two announced candidates in the field against Nelson and the probability of a third man entering. The two announced candidates are A. H. Sholts, Oregon, and Farrand K. Shuttleworth, Madison. William Graves of Prairie du Chien will probably become a candidate. Upwards of 500 persons have signed a petition asking Graves to enter the field. An effort has been made to get a conference and have only one opponent to Nelson, but so far this has been impossible. It is probable that such a conference may be held early in June. Donald served as secretary of state for six years; was a former member of both houses of the legislature, and is the father of the present highway aid law.

O'BRIEN LEAVES POSTAL COMPANY

Charles P. O'Brien, who for the past nine years has had charge of the local branch of the Postal Telegraph company, on Saturday resigned his position to enter the investigating bureau of the department of justice. Mr. O'Brien entered the service of the Postal Telegraph company as a messenger 15 years ago and while in the office practiced at the key, becoming proficient in telegraphy. From messenger boy he was promoted to operator and nine years ago was placed in charge of the office as manager. His place will be temporarily filled by a brother, William T. O'Brien.

INDIANS SUBSCRIBE THIRTY TIMES QUOTA

(By the Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS—Aggressive patriotism of North American Indians has been responsible for a Liberty loan record which may not be surpassed by any community in the United States. It was officially announced today that Odanah, an Indian reservation village in Ashland county, Wisconsin, subscribed thirty times its quota. The village quota was $3,000 and the total subscription was $106,000.

AIR RAIDS ARE RESUMED; 4 FLYERS FALL

Calm, Summer Like Night Tempts the Germans Out

LONDON—A calm summer-like night tempted the Germans to try last night their first air raid on London since March 7 and four of the raiders fell before the defenses of London.

The moon was shining brightly when the raiders crossed the southeastern point and headed for the metropolis.

The usual warnings were given promptly and the people had time to reach shelters before the guns in the neighborhood of London were heard. The firing was almost continuous for more than two hours and was unusually severe. Several bombs were dropped by the raiders.

The number of enemy aircraft is not known, but they seemed to have been more numerous than usual.

Don't be a SPENDER, BE A SAVER! Buy War-Savings Stamps!

Would You Do It?

YOU surely would not go to a physician for dental work. So why should anyone go to a physician or oculist to have their eyes examined for glasses?

Some people still go to the physician (eye doctor) for the reason that they think he has been trained for this special work, when the facts are that his "training" is confined to surgery and the treatment of "diseases" of the eyes.

If you absolutely knew that you have a "diseased" eye, then the eye physician is the proper person to consult. Statistics show that only "one" out of "one hundred" cases of eye trouble is caused by disease of the eyes. The other ninety-nine cases are "NOT DISEASED" and require only the correct glasses to remedy the trouble.

To people who are conscious that they have some trouble with their eyes, the thing to do is to first consult a "skilled and competent optometrist." His special training makes him the logical one to be consulted first. Some of the greatest medical men in the country have publicly expressed their views in harmony with the position we take here.

If you should be unfortunate enough to be the one person out of a hundred whose eyes are diseased, the "skilled optometrist" (after examining your eyes) will tell to to consult an eye physician.

OPTOMETRY has advanced so far in the last few years that the service of the optometrist now far surpasses that of the eye physician in the fitting of glasses.

The public is rapidly becoming conscious of the fact that it is as important to consult the up-to-date OPTOMETRIST for a correctly fitted pair of glasses as it is to consult a dentist about their teeth. Some selfish doctors opposed dentistry years ago, but the dentists won out on their own merits. The OPTOMETRISTS are doing the same.

Insist upon knowing where and how long your oculist or optometrist studied the fitting of glasses. It is as much a distinct profession from medicine as is dentistry, osteopathy or electro-theraphy.

Investigate carefully the ability of the optometrist to whom you intrust your eyes.

Madison's Biggest Buying Power

Mr. Merchant, do you know where Madison's biggest buying power is today?

Out in the east end, of course.

That is Madison's industrial beehive. Factories are running night and day. Men are getting overtime. Their pay envelopes are large.

Are you getting your share of those pay envelopes?

Or are you sitting back and letting some other merchant get that business?

How can you get that business?

By advertising in THE CAPITAL TIMES.

Ask the men employed in the shops which is their favorite newspaper.

Do you know that the men in the shops are patronizing advertisers in THE CAPITAL TIMES?

Ask the advertisers of The Capital Times if Capital Times advertising hasn't brought them east end business.

Mr. Merchant, thousands of men have left Madison in the last year. Hundreds of students are gone, hundreds of the city's young men have gone to the front. In order to keep up with your last year's business you will have to develop new fields. What are you doing to get new business? What are you doing to get in touch with Madison's biggest buying power?

DEFEND MILLER FOOD RECORD ON POTATOES

Administration in Reply to Farmers Who Ask for Removal

BLAME CAR SHORTAGE

Says Mr. Miller's Firm Has Suffered Because of His Federal Work

The following story has been given out by the state food administration:

"Placing the blame for the potato conditions of the last season on E. P. Miller, head of the potato distribution department of the food administration of the United States, and claiming that he profited financially from his failure to alleviate them, the American Society of Equity and the labor unions of the state of Wisconsin petitioned President Wilson and Herbert Hoover for his removal.

"With a large crop on their hands, the farmers could not transport them to the markets in need of them because of inadequacy of transportation facilities. This created a great shortage of potatoes in the market, and prices leaped up accordingly. While farmers failed to realize the actual expense of production and fed potatoes to their hogs or spread them on their fields as a fertilizer, and while many thousands of bushels were manufactured into potato starch, consumers bought potatoes by the pound at a high price and economized upon the use of them.

"These organizations accuse Miller one of the biggest potato buyers in the United States, of making enormous profits from the high prices of potatoes. In his handling of them he is said to receive a larger sum than that given to the producer. These profits trace their origin to the scarcity of potatoes on the market, a condition which Miller should have remedied.

"The food administration policies relating to potatoes are handled by Mr. Powell assisted by Mr. Eustace, neither of whom has any connection with the potato business. The enforcement of the law is handled by Mr. Boyden. Mr. Miller's work consists of securing the voluntary support of the potato trade in carrying out the food administration regulations. Mr. Miller has done good service to the potato growers in promoting organizations of growers and shippers and securing the free movement of potato shipments so badly demoralized by the car shortage and the severe weather and in outlining and promoting the present nation-wide potato consuming campaign. Mr. Miller's firm has not been directed by him since he entered public service and has in fact suffered severe financial loss as a result of the service which he has rendered at the request of the food administration."

WAR RELIEF SHOP TO AID WOMEN

The women of the medical staff of the New York infirmary for women and children have been serving in France as a hospital unit for almost a year. To replenish their supplies and buy needs for their work, the proceeds of the War Relief shop Friday and Saturday will be given to this unit. Mrs. E. H. Byrne will be in charge of the sales.

This all-woman unit was formed in June, 1917 and services were offered to the American government but its regulations made no provision for admitting women to any form of its official work. The unit then offered its services to the French government was accepted. The first work of the unit was the care of the civilians in the devastated region of France. Since the recent great offensive they have been called to a military hospital close behind the lines.

The rest of the program will be in the hands of the following artists: Burdella Patterson in artistic poses; Hopkins & Axtellie, in a bright travesty, billed as "Traveling;" and the Skatelles will introduce a surprise novelty.

A great many people have been watching the news pictures, that have been exhibited at the Orpheum, the program to be shown this evening will consist of scenes pertaining to inter-national events.

The Capital Times is made for those who pay 10 cents a week for it.

MRS. CORDELIA HARVEY WRITES ABOUT LINCOLN

An account of a personal interview with President Lincoln, a story of the trials and perseverance of the Dutch settlers in Wisconsin, recollections of a Beloit pioneer, editorials, and a review of the activities of the Historical society make the fourth issue of the Wisconsin Magazine of History one to be read with interest.

"A Wisconsin Woman's Picture of President Lincoln" is the printed lecture of Mrs. Cordelia A. P. Harvey, given at the close of the civil war. Uuon the death of Mrs. Harveys' husband, a former governor of Wisconsin, she took up his work of caring for the sick and wounded soldiers of the north who were kept in hospitals established in the south.

Men often died from the effects of the climate upon them in their weakened condition, when no doubt a return to the north would have made recovery possible. Filled with the desire to have hospitals established in the north to which the union soldiers might go, Mrs. Harvey went to Washington to interview President Lincoln.

"It seemed to me that I had been conversing with a half dozen different men," said Mrs. Harvey in telling of the many facial contortions and changes of expression that swept over Lincoln's countenance as he listened to her plea.

She went to see him several times before her request was granted. In one of their conversations she remarked that he would have reason to rejoice when the government was restored.

"But the springs of life are wearing away," he replied simply.

Sipko F. Roberts gives the story of the settlement of the Dutch around Sheboygan in this state. Their persistent efforts to win a living from the soil, their many hardships, and their connection with other settlements consisting of narrow Indian trails are related by the author.

"Pioneer Recollections of Beloit and Southern Wisconsin" are told graphically by Lucius G. Fisher. To hear that in 1837, just after the financial panic, lots in the heart of Chicago could be had for from $100 to $500, make the reader understand how big fortunes started from investments in real estate. Mr. Fisher's trip up through Illinois into Wisconsin shows the difficulty of traveling in those days when narrow trails and frail boats formed the chief means of transportation.

Various hostorical documents and a survey of the activities of the Historical society add to the historical value of the magazine.

An interesting synopsis of one of the first plays given in Wisconsin and printed in Milwaukee takes the reader back to the time when the giving of a play was the highest form of entertainment.

TOWN TALK

JURY TO ADJOURN

The federal grand jury which has been in session for the past five weeks at Superior will adjourn some time this week, according to John F. Lamont, chief deputy United States marshal, who was in the city over Saturday and Sunday. Witnesses called thus far number 350 and about 50 more are to be heard. Because of the large amount of work to be done, it is believed the federal court will be kept in session throughout the summer months.

Baldness Conquered

RECIPE MAILED FREE

A veteran business man, who was almost completely bald and had tried numerous tonics, lotions, shampoos, etc., without benefit, came across, while on a journey, an Indians' recipe by which he grew a complete crop of healthy, luxuriant hair that he now possesses.

Others—men and women—have reported remarkable hair growth by the same method. Whoever wishes the recipe may obtain it free by writing to John Hart Brittain, BA-322, Station F, New York, N. Y. Or obtain a box of the ointment, Kotalko, made according to the perfected recipe, at the drug store, ready for use.

Indians' Secret of Hair Growth

In a vast number of cases, when hair falls out, the roots are not dead, but remain imbedded in the scalp, alive, like seeds or bulbs, needing only fertility. The usual alkaline shampoos, alcoholized hair tonics, etc., are of no avail in such cases. The Indians' ointment nourishes the hair and stimulates the growth.

Kotalko fertilizes the scalp and induces hair growth in every case possible; wonderful results reported. For men's, woman's and children's hair. If you are bald, or losing hair, or have dandruff, you should try Kotalko. It is a pleasure to observe the starting of new hair and its steady increase until a prolific growth supersedes thin hair or baldness. Cut out this notice; show to others who want beautiful hair. The recipe is free. This is genuine.

The time has come when you must put a money value on it.

So much Red Cross money available, so many babies restored.

A little less Red Cross money available, so many babies lost by default.

It's as plain as that.

When you made that first Red Cross investment you had a fairly clear idea that there was plenty to be done and that the Red Cross would make every dollar of money and every minute of time count.

But have you now a clear picture of what price somebody will have to pay for one delayed dollar or a hundred dollars withheld?

You can't read a casual page of Red Cross reports from anywhere "over there" without endangering the coolness of your decision as to "how much."

Suppose you had found "another use" for your Red Cross money a while ago and a corresponding part of the piece of work described below went undone:

"Gas bombs were being used. 750 children suddenly thrust upon the Prefect's hand. Twenty-one of the children were infants under one year and the remainder were under eight years---herded together in an old barracks, dirty, practically unfurnished, and with no sanitary appliances. Sick children were crowded in with the well and skin disease and vermin abounded. Within two days the Red Cross workers had cleaned all the children, provided new barracks, provided medical care and nurses for the babies, secured suitable food and classified all the refugees to prevent the separation of members of the same family."

Was that money well spent?

Were those babies worth while? Well, how much were they worth, per baby?

They are the future of France---the hope and pledge of civilization. We are in their debt for what their fathers and mothers have paid already---in hunger, in cold. in mutilation. in slavery

PATRIOTISM AND HYPOCRICY

ON page 1 of today's issue The Capital Times prints a story of another form of commercialized patriotism in this community. A firm of coal dealers in this city has been excluded from participating in patriotic advertising BECAUSE THEY REFUSED TO ENTER INTO A PRICE FIXING AGREEMENT ON THE PRICE OF COAL.

Since its first issue The Capital Times has fought commercialized patriotism and the use of patriotism and loyalty in business competition and to serve business ends. To our notion there is nothing that will injure morale more than to allow selfish interests to use patriotism in the attainment of selfish interests.

Here we have coal dealers contributing an ad "For the cause of democracy and the overthrow of Prussian autocracy."

What is more Prussian than price agreements? And because a Madison firm refused to enter into an agreement to fix prices (before the government fixed prices) they are refused an opportunity "to demonstrate their patriotism in the newspapers."

For years it has been contended that there has been an agreement among the coal dealers of Madison. This has always been strenuously denied by the coal dealers but no explanation has been forthcoming on why the same prices were charged on the same grades of coal by all dealers with the exception of the Sinaiko firm.

Now suppose a firm starts to do business in Madison that prefers not to go in with others in their line. Suppose that they decide to sell goods at a smaller margin of profit than others, and do it independently. Suppose that the people are enabled to get necessities at cheaper prices because of this competition? Is it fair to allow a concern doing business in that way to be branded in a Prussian way because they refuse to toe the mark set out for them by others?

Does this community subscribe for that sort of procedure?

What is the next step in an affair of this kind?

In stealth and under cover the whisperers will get busy.

"Did you notice, they will say "that the So and So dealers had a full page patriotic ad in the paper and So and So's name was the only one that wasn't in? I always suspected that he was pro-German and disloyal."

Then will come the statement from others that they will not trade with So and So because he is disloyal.

What about the public obligations of a newspaper that will be a party to that kind of procedure? Is the man who tries to get all the money possible out of a community to be protected and the man who chooses to do business at independent prices to be branded?

In other words while we are fighting for "the overthrow of Prussian autocracy" abroad are we to aid "Prussian autocracy" here at home?

Eventually the people of this community will know the men in this community who are making PATRIOTISM into HYPOCRISY. They will know the men who wrap the American flag around them as a shield for exploiting the people. They will know the men who attempt to capitalize the honest patriotism of people into their own bank account.

This isn't the time to settle those scores,—but a day of reckoning is coming.

RED CROSS WEEK

TODAY marks the opening of Red Cross week.

The citizens of this country will be asked to contribute $100,000,000 to help the "greatest mother in the world" take care of the unfortunates in stricken Europe.

When a loved one is seriously ill we never stop to ask how much the doctor's services are going to cost. In the presence of death the thought of money fades.

No fund would bring more cheerful giving than the Red Cross. It is the ministering angel to our boys over there. It takes them broken and maimed and tenderly mends and restores them. Stricken in No Man's land the Red Cross finds them out and brings them succor. In these days Red Cross is doctor and nurse to humanity.

The Red Cross should never want for funds,—and it never will.

SAYS NEWSPAPERS ARE DOMINATED BY RICH WHO PULL THE STRINGS

By PAUL GREER

(In the Nonpartisan Leader.)

If you had swallowed your beliefs," my father freqquently tells me, "you could have been one of the big men on the Daily Blade." Almost 10 years ago, when I was fresh from college, he led me into the cubbyhole of the publisher and proudly introduced me as the holder of a diploma from the University of Michigan. Father, who had starved his way through a prairie normal school, always embarrased me by telling strangers about my college degree, which after all didn't amount to as much as if I had earned it.

I managed to ask for a job and the three of us groped through a dingy passage. Reaching a room filled with the clatter of typewriters and telegraph instruments, I was introduced to the city editor as a new reporter. The next day I started in at $15 a week.

The first six months of a reporter's life is pure bliss. It is a new world and he is busy—too busy to grow discontented, too busy to hear office gossip. Journalism is not the only activity in which the old hands lie back and let the cubs do the work.

How Advertising Is a Bribe

Some things will puzzle the beginner. After turning up a story of the elopement of the son of a wealthy clothing merchant with the old man's cashier, he finds that it does not appear in the paper. A good yarn, too. The merchant threatens to disown the boy, but finally kidnaps him from the bride and induces him to enlist in the navy. The girl gets another job and waits for her husband to return.

On the other hand, he gets orders to play up the account of the mental collapse of another merchant. After this millionaire had announced a general increase of pay for his 6 a-week shop girls, he was taken to a sanitarium by his children. From that retreat he telephoned the manager of his store and ordered him to buy a gross of canary birds and give one away with each purchase.

One of these shops does not advertise. The one that did enjoyed immunity from unfavorable publicity.

It is by such hints as these, unspoken, dimly suggested, that the reporter adjusts his point of view. He learns after interviewing a returned senator who appealed to his imagination as an important figure in national affairs that the whole office is rocking with laughter at his expense. The newspaper will not print anything about the senator except a knock.

Countless little pinpricks of such sort may make a sore conscience that will take a man from newspaper work into a business that, although it probably is no more honestly conducted, does not have such widespread influence for evil. More probably, within a year the cub reporter will be making $20 or $25 a week, and will salve his conscience with the thought that his friends, who are civil engineers, salesmen and railroad clerks, are not progressing as fast.

Long Distance Progressives

As time goes on he will become completely reconciled to newspaper ethics. His only comment on the dishonesty of the policy will be humorous. In cleaning out my locker today I found a brief commentary on conditions in our office, written by a reporter who left to run an Oklahoma farm on shares with his father. He had written it thus:

"WHAT THE DAILY BLADE STANDS FOR

"Democracy—in Russia.

"Free speech—in Germany.

State insurance—in England.

"Minimum wage laws — in Oregon.

"Government ownership —in New Zealand.

"High wages—for those employed by its enemies."

But he was a practicing opponent of prohibition, and I think what called him most was our editor's advocacy of that cause.

"I wish the wet and dry question was settled permanently," he used to say. "If the dailies and weeklies could dispose of the matter now, they might be forced to discuss something more vital."

He regarded the agitation for the abolition of liquor as camouflage diverting public attention from the ending of deeper wrongs.

It is in such a school that the reporter is educated. He learns the hollowness of public men, because he has talked with them, and he concludes that half of them are illiterate and the other half intoxicated. Assign a reporter to interview a statesman and he will seek him at the hotel bar. The task of writing the interview with a political leader calls for only a little imagination and a knowledge of what the public or the editor expects him to say.

Frequently the reporter has telephoned the local pillars of society and asked if he may quote them on some problem of government or industry.

"Certainly, whatever you think I should say. I'll stand for it," will be the sum of the telephonic reply

Reputations for great wisdom and public spirit have been built up in this way.

A reporter is assigned to call on the bankers every day, on the financial run. He is invited to put his feet on their desks, smoke their cigars, and even to make a loan. If the bankers get a reporter or an editor in their clutches, it is time for the people to beware of the news as it is printed.

No Use for the Man Who Works

Even in the highest society the reporter is received as an equal. His is a white collar job, and he adopts the Cluett-Peabody attitude of considering old clothes a disgrace, labor a shameful thing, the poor man a criminal.

He is a $30-a-week capitalist.

That is why I am quitting the newspaper game.

The trouble with the press is the men who feed its columns. Without moral backbone, without ideals, without a sense of justice or fair play, they are poisoning the minds of such people as put any trust in the daily newspapers. In the minds of others they are irrigating the seeds of distrust that make each man suspect his neighbor. Without conscious effort they teach that the struggle for existence is with our fellow men, rather than with evil industrial conditions.

Living in a false atmosphere is in part responsible for this reactionary attitude. Many a newspaper worker has dined with President Roosevelt at the chamber of commerce or traveled on a special train with President Taft. Then he has gone home to worry about how he is to pay the grocery bill.

In many cases, I suspect, the owners of our larger newspapers (where they are private citizens and not officeholders or corporations) are innocent of much that goes on in their editorial rooms. In our own office men are held back by tradition. They fear to write the undecorated truth because they think it would be unacceptable to the editors. Some mentally doddering telegraph editor will say to his assistant: "I have always understood that we don't print much about strikes. It tends to stir up labor." So he throws into the waste basket the dispatches telling of the war for bread in the woolen milling towns of New England. If he had a bit of spirit, he would execute his trust to the people and see that they got the news.

The Need For Honest Reporters

While working on the desk I have tried sending radical news through the printers and know that it gets by without comment from my superiors. The typesetters, who are good union men, usually contrive to give it a prominent position, too.

The American newspaper press would be forced to become forward looking tomorrow if the reporters could be given a progressive point of view. Whether this realization that they belong to the working class is obtained by study of sociology and economics or by association with men who labor with their hands does not matter in the least. We may yet see a reporters' union that will call a strike when an honestly written story is distorted by a crooked editor.

If the reporters are more reactionary than their employers, the people are more progressive than the editor who strives to divert their thoughts.

The success of the muckraking magazines 10 or 15 years ago encouraged the habit of free thought. Newspapers with a radical outlook came to be in demand. They started out sensational, feebly capitalized, very irresponsible. They succeeded—too well. The editors now have become fat and prosperous. Neither they nor their papers are any longer progressive.

But the people, thus started thinking along radical lines, have not become prosperous, and they continue with their criticism of things as they are; even after the editors, who started the ball rolling, have stopped short.

The letter of resignation of the editor of the cleanest New York newspaper contains a significant paragraph:

"I leave the active service of the evening Post with a reluctance and a regret which it would be impossible for me to exaggerate. To my colleagues in the newspaper profession it is unnecessary to dwell upon the fact that the New York Evening Post stands perhaps first in the very small list of daily papers, service upon which is a certificate of freedom of conscience and expression, personal self respect, and high professional standards."

As I turn this story into its envelope for mailing, I take my hat and then feel inside my vest pocket to make sure I still have my week's pay. There isn't much more than that between me and the ever present high cost of living. But, like some woman whose feet have strayed to shameless paths—on whose ears yet falls the still small voice—I am turning back to the honest life.

I am quitting the newspaper game.

PRESS COMMENT

PARTISAN POLITICS

If we are to put out non-essentials during the war, why not start on partisan politics? — Sheboygan Press.

MILLINERY

The demand for millinery and women's wear in general is greater than ever before. Not a large percentage of women have gone to war, and more of them are earning money of their own and gettin gbetter pay.—Superior Telegram.

RESPONSIBILITY

Senator Lenroot is announced to speak at Philadelphia Saturday—"The Loyalty of Wisconsin." Let all be thankful that this subject has finally shed the question mark which usually had been associated with it. —Eau Claire Telegram.

You are one of the hysterical newspapers of the state responsible for putting it there.

GREGORY'S ADVICE

Attorney General Gregory has sounded a timely warning against the increasing tendency to appeal to mob law in dealing with persons of pro-German tendencies. It is to be hoped that this warning may be heeded. A crime is no less a crime when committed under the guise of patriotism. It is rather intensified and horrified by this camouflage.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

KEEP MONEY WORKING

Keep your money working. When you get interest on your Liberty bonds put it right back in Thrift stamps. That is one way to make the money a hundred per cent efficient. Of course the real patriots will just naturally forget that they have any interest coming until after Uncle Sam is through paying for the war. Just think what a mighty handy neat egg this accumulated interest will be.—Kenosha News.

Has been hungry for war news lately.
Every time the paper comes
He wants to know all about it.
He is not satisfied with the headlines,
But wants whole columns read.
And he listens, all attention,
And criticizes troop movements
And offers timely suggestions.
"What's the big idea?" we asked.
After we had read every scrap of war news to him after dinner.
"I'm just keeping track of my investment,"
Said he. "I have got money in the war.
I bought a quarter's worth of
Thrift stamps last week with the money
I got for taking castor oil.

DINNER STORIES

The foreman of a construction gang was walking along his section of the railway one day when he came to a man sleeping in the shade of a fence. Eyeing the man with a stern smile he said:

"Slape on, ye idle spalpeen, slape on! So long as ye slape ye've got a job, but when ye wake up ye're out of wurrk!"

Little Gladys—Will I go to heaven when I die, mummie?

Mummie—Yes, darling, if you are a good little girl.

Little Gladys—And will you go to heaven, mummie?

Mummie—Yes, dear.

Little Gladys—And will papa go to heaven?

Mummie (with slight hesitancy)—I think so, dearie.

Little Gladys—And will Charlie Chaplin go to heaven when he dies?

Mummie (after a long pause)—Oh, I suppose so.

Little Gladys (with joyous fervor)—Oh, mummie, won't God laugh!

A clerk was sent to call on Mr. C——, the meanest rich man in the town, to try to induce him to purchase a burial plot in the new cemetery.

In half an hour he was back again.

"Couldn't get him?" asked the manager.

"No," said the clerk. "He admitted the plots were fine ones, but he said if he bought one he might not get the value for his money in the end."

"Why?" asked the manager. "There's no fear; the man will die some day, won't he?"

"Yes," said the clerk; "but he says he might be lost at sea."

"So you want to get exempted. Have you anyone dependent on you?" "Oh, yaas, suh, sush, sah. My wife, she depends on me, sah, to carry her wash home, sah."

U. S. CENSORSHIP BOARD HAS ENORMOUS POWERS

U. S. censorship board in session.

This is the only picture ever made of the United States censorship board, the body which represents all angles of government supervision over publications, mail, cable, radio, telegraph and all other means of communication possible to reach. In the group are, seated, left to right, Capt. David W. Todd, U. S. N., chief cable censor and director of naval communications; Maj. Gen. Frank McIntyre, chief military censor and chief of the bureau of insular affairs; Robert L. Maddox, chairman of the board and chief postal censor; Paul Fuller, Jr., director bureau of war trade intelligence, and George Creel, chairman committee on public information. Standing, left to right, Miss Genevieve Chapin, assistant to the secretary of the board; Frederick Bulkeley Hyde, secretary, and Eugene Russell White, deputy chief postal censor.

FOURTH MEMBER OF BOARD IN RESIGNATION

Prof. J. G. D. Mack and W. D. Curtis Leave the Commerce Organization

The fourth member of the board of directors of the Association of Commerce to resign in the last four months has handed in his resignation.

About ten days ago Prof. J. G. D. Mack resigned as a member of the board. About a month ago W. D. Curtis sent in his resignation. Earlier the resignations of Louis Hirsig and Judge A. C. Hoppmann were sent in.

F. W. Montgomery, C. H. Tenney, M. J. Cleary and T. G. Murray have been chosen to fill these vacancies.

The statement given out by the board says that the resignation of Prof. Mack was due to "increasing state work, both on the state council of defense and in other capacities." M. J. Cleary takes Prof. Mack's place.

The fact that Mr. Curtis has taken on government contract work is given as the reason for his resignation. Mr. Montgomery succeeds Mr. Curtis.

Mr. Murray takes Mr. Hirsig's place and Mr. Tenney takes Judge Hoppmann's place.

TO PREPARE CEMETERY

People who own lots in the Forest Hill cemetery are asked by the commissioners to co-operate in getting the cemetery ready for Memorial day. Those who have their lots taken care of by the year are also informed that the charges for upkeep were due on May 10 and the commission is anxious that these be paid at once.

REBUILD LODGE

J. E. Findorff, contractor, has started work on the reconstruction of Psi Upsilon lodge, which was destroyed by fire last winter. The new structure will be built along the same lines as the one destroyed. It is estimated that it will cost about $20,000 to rebuild.

MOVIE NOTES

Motion picture fans will be glad to know that Anita Stewart, one of the most beautiful of the screen stars, is returning to the Vitagraph studio to start work on a forthcoming picture. Miss Stewart has been ill for some time and numerous inquiries have been made as to why, how and when she would return to the land of the cinema.

"The 'Mind the Paint' Girl," a delightful English satire by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, will be the first of her new releases. Vernon Steele will be her leading man.

Miss Stewart is only twenty-three years old and has already achieved success worthy of a person twice her age. She was born in New York and has lived there the greater part of her young life. She entered upon her screen career at the age of seventeen, playing minor parts with the Vitagraph company. Her first director was the famous Ralph W. Ince and a great deal of her success she thinks is due to his tutoring.

She worked and studied and played extras for almost a year before she was given a chance at a leading part. Then she played the lead in "The Wood Violet." In a month she had become famous and finally she was cast for the big features only.

She is an expert at all of the things which a motion picture actress must be able to do such as ride, motor, swim and sail. She is famous for her wardrobes and her perfect style taste a well as for her beauty and acting ability.

Just one look at her picture would be enough to assure anyone that she has a sweet and friendly disposition, and that she is "easy to work with" as one of the Vitagraph property men once said of her.

"MOTHER" MAURICE DIES

Mary Birch Maurice, Vitagraph's grand old lady, who had the title of "mother of the films" died last week at the home of relatives in Port Carbon, Pa. Mrs. Maurice was known to more motion picture lovers, perhaps, than any other "mother" on the screen, and all of her work was done with Vitagraph, her last important part being that of the nurse in "Over the Top." She was seventy-four years old and had been in pictures since 1910. Her entire stage experience covers fifty-one years.

The Pickfords are rivals on Broadway this week with Mary playing in "M'liss" on one side of the street and Jack and Lottie across the way in "Mile-a-Minute Kendall."

William S. Hart bought $105,000 worth of Liberty bonds.

Marguerite Clark is busily at work upon the film adaptation of that American classic "Uncle Tom's Cabin." She will play little Eva and Topsy at the same time. This will be Miss Clark's first attempt at a dual role.

Nazimova foresakes the heavy tragedy in her latest release, "Revelation," and turns to something more romantic which almost borders on comedy.

Constance Talmadge is reported to be engaged to Norman Kerry, who appeared with her in "Up the Road Sallie."

OREGON

"The Bible and the Present War," is the theme of the Rev. Du Bordieu's sermon at the union service to be held in the Methodist church, Sunday evening. Many people believe that they see references to the present war in the books of Daniel and Revelation. The Rev. Wm. J. DuBordieu in his sermon on this subject will limit himself to the book of Daniel at this time.

Sunday services at the Presbyterian church are: Sabbath school at 9:45 a. m., this being the first Sunday of the three week's attendance campaign: morning worship at 10:45 a. m.—the Rev. DuBordieu preaching on "The Soul Leper"; Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p. m. and evening worship in the Methodist church at 7:45 p. m.

The Boy Scout hike to the Bluffs takes place Saturday under the direction of Arthur Paulson. Tuesday at 8:00 p. m. the regular Boy Scout meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church.

Miss Effie Mae Hein returns to her home in Albany, Saturday after having completed two seasons of apprenticeship in the millinery establishment of Miss Agnes Rasmussen.

Prof. R. E. Balliette gave a patriotic address at the regular meeting of the social center club in the Tippie school, Friday evening.

Miss Kate Fox of Madison has been the guest this week at the Garrett Barry home.

Mrs. Garrett Barry visited last week-end with relatives in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Andrew Carnegie who has been ill for a month, is able to occupy her usual place at the desk in the library.

Many people took advantage of the nearness of the camping-grounds of the soldiers en route from Camp Grant to Sparta and visited them in camp at Evansville and Brooklyn respectively. There are about six thousand men in this contingent, and the time occupied in passing a given point is about two hours.

Mrs. Edith Patton, 640 Pickford-street, Madison, announces the marriage of her daughter Ruth to George Dreher of Camp Grant last Tuesday in Rockford. Both young people are well and favorably known here. Mr. Dreher has enjoyed a ten-day leave of absence expiring this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McWilliams, attended the funeral services, Thursday, in Madison of Mr. McWilliams' brother's wife, Mrs. Alberta McWilliams.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Barber are in Madison where Mr. Barber is taking treatments at the hospital. Mr. Barber does not recover as rapidly as wished from the effects of a severe operation submitted to last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Barry received word Thursday from their son, Dr. Howard Barry, of Sun Prairie, announcing his safe arrival at a port in France.

Among our boys who leave for Camp Grant are Leslie Booth, William Pratt and George Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hayes of Madison were down Wednesday for the day.

Mrs. William Hesselberg of Platteville has been the guest this week of her mother, Mrs. Thomas O'Brien.

200 CHILDREN TO APPEAR IN ART GUILD PLAY

"Spring Fantasy," Work of Mrs. John Haussmann, to be Presented

More than two hundred children will take part in the presentation of the play of verse and dance, "The Spring Fantasy," to be presented under the auspices of the Madison Art guild Friday evening, May 24 and Saturday afternoon, May 25, in the auditorium of the Madison high school.

The play written entirely in verse is the work of Mrs. John Haussmann, 438 North Lake street. The part of spring will be taken by Mrs. R. F. Seybolt, who will open the acts with a solo dance and verse. She will then call her three handmaids, March, represented as wild, April who will be moody with sunshine and rain, and May, who will come in gently and brightly.

"Fair springtime through the sunny days
The harps of nature greatly plays
And with her laughing handsmaids three
They dance a thrilling fantasy."

The many flowers are then summoned, the crocus, the earliest spring flower, being the first to arrive. There will follow the blue bells, who will ring their bells and call the rest of the flowers. The toadstools will jump up, the forget-me-nots will come in, the snow balls will play a snow ball game.

The trumpet vines will arrive announcing themselves as follows:

"In the fragrant flower land
We're the regimental band
Playing at the spring's command,
Tara, tara, tara."

The pansies who will represent the philosophers of life, the daisies as fortune tellers, the browneyed Susans, dandelions, bouncing Betsies, Ivy vines, sweet peas (society gossipers), moon flowers, roses, and many other flowers will appear in their characteristic manner during the two-hour program which will be carried out.

The Boy Scouts will represent the shooting stars. The morning glories will be the patriots of the program with their costumes of red, white and blue. The different flowers will be represented by individuals and groups chosen from the different schools of the city. The costumes are being designed by the members of the Madison art guild. The proceeds of the performance will be given to the war orphan fund.

MADISON CLUB MOVES THIS WEEK

Farewell ceremonies will be held by the members of the Madison club in their old headquarters on West Washington avenue, Tuesday night, following which the members will go to their new home on East Wilson street and Monona avenue, where an inspection tour will be conducted. A supper will be served following the inspection.

The building and equipment costs $135,000. The Madison club was incorporated on October 20, 1909 and took up their quarters in the club rooms on Wes Washington avenue. The membership at the present time is 450. The officers are F. W. Montgomery, president; M. J. Cleary, vice-president, and W. M. Parker, secretary.

GOVERNOR'S RED CROSS PROCLAMATION

The duty of caring for our sick and wounded soldiers and the alleviation of suffering among the fighting forces and civilian population of our allied countries has, by our government, been placed upon the the American Red Cross Society. During the year 1917 the American people generously contributed a large sum of money for this purpose. The President advises us, by proclamation, that this sum is nearly exhausted and that another collection must be made in order to secure the means with which to keep up this work of mercy.

The American people have fairly earned their reputation of being generous and their hearts are easily touched by appeals for the relief of suffering humanity—it matters not where the appeal comes from. Now, our own brave boys must be cared for and as a humane people we can do no less than give proper care to those who have fallen upon the battlefield, regardless of the army or country to which they belong. We should liberally support those splendid women, the Red Cross nurses, who are being sent to the battlefields to aid in the care of our fallen heroes and I make this appeal to the people of Wisconsin for a liberal contribution to the Red Cross Society.

I hope that no citizen will feel burdened because the demands for funds are frequent. We must appreciate that we are at war and the cost of maintaining the institutions is necessarily large. However, no cost can be so great as would be the cost of the loss of liberty to the world, and in this case it is our plain duty to make liberal provision for our soldier boys whom we have sent to the battle-line to defend us, and our allies who are fighting our fight with them.

Now, therefore, I Emanuel L. Philipp, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, in view of the above facts, and in conformity with the proclamation by the President of the United States, do hereby proclaim the week beginning May twentieth, 1917, as Red Cross Week during which money will be solicited by the agents of the American Red Cross Society to secure funds to carry on the work of that necessary institution to alleviate the suffering of the soldiers and civilians whom the misfortunes of war have made helpless.

U. S. MAY CLOSE TWO LOCAL DEPOTS

Plans to Discontinue Use of East Madison and Illinois Central

Plans for the closing of the east Madison depot of the Milwaukee road and the Illinois Central depot are being made, it is said, and if the proposition materializes, all trains of the Milwaukee road now stopping at the east end depot will be run into the Chicago and Northwestern depot while the trains of the Illinois Central will run in and out of the West Madison station of the Milwaukee road.

The new plan if carried out is in line with the policy of Director William G. McAdoo to reduce the operating expenses of the railroads by avoiding duplications.

Whether or not the plan is carried out will depend on the report of a representative of the government who is at present in the city investigating the proposed change.

Norma Talmadge follows her recent smashing success in "Ghosts of Yesterday" with a smart society-drama, "By Right of Purchase," ably directed, sumptuously staged, and superbly cast.

New York Review—"Norma Talmadge goes on apace. When counting the real feminine stars of the screen upon the fingers of one hand, her name must be included as one of the magic five. Her youth and beauty gradually have become supplemented by a depth of emotion and a facility of technical expression which mark the artist."

Waste and Extravagance

Are Germany's Silent Allies

They will help the kaiser. They will kill American soldiers.

Every bit of waste, every extravagance takes force from the power America must put into the war to win. Every penny spent for luxuries and unnecessary things is a penny lost to the production and purchase of food, clothing, supplies, ships and munitions for our soldiers.

As long as we spend wastefully, Germany will receive silent but powerful help from America; just so much farther away is the Day of Peace.

Don't spend thoughtlessly or unnecessarily. Save! With high wages and plenty of work for everyone, there never was such an opportunity to help yourself and help your country.

Save to help the Government. Lend your savings to your Country—

Giants and Brewers Fare Badly During Past Week of Season; Boston Keeps Lead

Senators Win Another Over-time Game Sunday; Brewers Drop One More

The week just closed was a costly one for the New York Giants. The National league leaders lost their second series in the west. The Cincinnati Reds went strong during the week, going into third place by running up a string of five victories out of six starts during the week's play.

In the American league, the Boston Red Sox, who regained first place last Sunday through Cleveland's defeat by Chicago, remained there by winning all five games played. The Sox shifted their line-up at the start of the week and the change seemed to have a good result.

The week's record in each league of games won and lost, with runs, including the games of Saturday, may 18, is as follows:

National League

	W.	L.	R.
New York	2	3	19
Chicago	3	3	27
Cincinnati	5	1	32
Pittsburg	2	3	22
Philadelphia	3	2	20
Brooklyn	2	4	25
St. Louis	2	3	13

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Senators, 5; Brewers, 2.

MILWAUKEE — The Eganites were so puzzled by Park's offerings for Columbus here Sunday that Milwaukee lost 5 to 2. The Brewers were able to make but three hits. The Brewers threatened in the ninth but fell short in a weak rally. The score:

Columbus— 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 2 2—5

Milwaukee— 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—2

Batteries—Howard, Faeth and Hahn; Park and Hartley.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Reds, 5 Giants, 1.

CINCINNATI—The local team made it four out of five from New York by winning the last game of the series here on Sunday, 5 to 1.

Though outbatted by the league leaders, Eller kept the hits well scattered and his support was very fast. Barnes was hit hard in the fourth inning, when errors by Holke and McCarthy were followed by S. Magee's triple and singles by Griffith and Neale, netting four runs.

Causey and Demaree were effective in the last two innings.

Hearn Holds St. Louis

ST. LOUIS—Hearn held St. Louis to four hits on Sunday and Boston shut out St. Louis, 1 to 0. The visitors bunched two of their seven hits off Packard in the second when Wickland singled, took second on Snyder's high throw to pick him off first, and scored on a single by J. C. Smith. The score:

Boston—	R.	H.	E.

Cubs Win, 3-0

CHICAGO—Chicago won the odd game of the series from Philadelphia on Sunday when they shut out the visitors, 3 to 0, in the final game of the series. The game was a pitching duel between Tyler and Hogg, with the former having the shade because of the ability of the locals to make their hits count. The score:

AUTO RACERS PLAN ACTIVE SEASON; RESTA, DURAY AND OLDFIELD ON JOB

Automobile racing this season promises to be one of the most successful in the annals of the sport. Already pretentious race meetings have been arranged for the speedways at Sheepshead Bay, Chicago, and Providence, as well as for the tracks in other cities throughout the country.

Great impetus has been given the sport by the announcements of Dario Resta, Arthur Duray, and Barney Oldfield that they intend to make this the most active season in their careers. These three are among the most sensational and most daring drivers, and the fact that they will be seen on all the big speedways should serve to draw out record throngs at every meet.

Oldfield is the dean of auto pilots, having maintained his place in the championship division for more than seventeen years. Resta, who held the title of Speed King in 1915 and 1916, is out to regain the laurels he voluntarily relinquished last season, while Duray is the present European champion and holder of the world's record average of 147 miles an hour.

The Frenchman made his record run in a mile time trial at Ostend, Belgium, several years ago. He is at present on his way to this country.

Resta will compete in the Harkness Handicap at 100 miles, which is to feature the inaugural track-and-air meet to be held at the Sheepshead Bay Speedway on Decoration day. Resta handed in his entry recently to Promoter William H. Wellman after the pair had been in conference for more than an hour.

Louis Chevrolet will start from scratch in this event, for which $30,000 in prizes and bonuses is offered. Barney Oldfield and Ira Vail are the other two drivers who have thus far entered.

There is much speculation as to what allowances, if any, Resta will receive from Chevrolet. The latter won the Speedway championship by finishing first in the Harkness Gold Trophy Race at Sheepshead last September. Resta started in this event, but was forced to withdraw after a few laps because of a broken camshaft. It was the only race in which Resta participated last season.

Resta's five-year record in the racing game in this country is the best ever compiled by a driver in the history of the sport. He has won every race in which he has finished but one, and that he lost to Ralph De Palma, the sprint champion of 1917. Resta finished second to De Palma in the 1915 Indianapolis Sweepstakes of $50,000, losing by a margin of four minutes over the 500-mile route. Resta has the distinction of being the only driver ever to win two Vanderbilt Cup and two Grand Prix classics in successive years.

Great interest attaches to the return of Barney Oldfield, the oldest of racing drivers. Oldfield is ready to retire after nearly twenty years of strenuous competition, and this is to be his final season.

MIKE DONLIN SOON TO GO TO FRANCE

Mike Donlin.

Mike Donlin, for years an idol of New York Giant fans, is to go to France as a baseball instructor for the soldiers. Old "Turkey Mike," slugger extraordinary and one of the most picturesque figures the national pastime has ever produced, is to be appointed to that position by the committee on training camp activities, and expects to go overseas in the near future.

War Brings Yale, Harvard and Princeton Together in Track Meet

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—The most radical innovation made in the athletics of Harvard, Princeton and Yale under war conditions will go into effect next Saturday, when the three universities unite for the first time in a triangular contest.

Before the war altered conditions of sports in the three universities they had concluded an agreement, mainly through an understanding, rather than a written document, to work in harmony in their athletic relations, to meet mutually in as many branches of sports as seemed feasible, and to maintain common eligibility rules. This common athletic policy had gone into effect just before war broke for the United States, but remained in suspense last year when athletics hung in abeyance upon America's entry into the war.

With the agreement by the three last winter to resume athletics came a formal decision to take up baseball and rowing in dual races and games as undergraduate negotiations found feasible, but to unite in track athletics in a triangular meet, which was arranged to be held in this city May 25, with the usual thirteen events for the program.

In another manner war has revolutionized track athletics at the three institutions. Princeton, traditionally the weakest of the three, and with only a single victory to its credit over the two rival universities, stands out as the almost certain winner of the triangular meet, while Harvard, which has won more track meets from Yale than the Elis have been able to capture from the Crimson, is easily the weakest in track strength.

Forecasts of the strength of the three teams make Princeton the winner, with about 45 points, Yale second with about 35, and Harvard third with some 24 points.

WAUSAU—The Rev. Louis Mansky of Beloit will take charge of the Beth Israel congregation here on June 15, having accepted a formal call.

COBB STILL ACTIVE

Ty Cobb is in his thirty-second year. He has been playing with the Detroits since 1905, the only year in which his batting average was less than .300. The Georgia Peach has been the champion batsman of the American league at the end of each campaign since 1907, excepting 1916, when Tris Speaker had a better average. Cobb's greatest batting record was .420, being hung up in 1911. Last year he batted .383, and never played more brilliantly. In spite of advancing years, Cobb still is in his prime. He is easily the greatest ball player of all time, and he is worth the $20,000 salary which the Detroit club has been paying to him since 1914. As a drawing card, Tyrus Raymond stands at the head of the class.

Praise for Sports

Gen. Pershing Says Baseball and Other Sports Makes Strategists of Soldiers.

PRAISE FOR SPORTS

OMAHA —Baseball has made strategists of the American soldiers, Gen. Pershing says in a letter just received by Capt. C E. Adams, former state commander of the G. A. R. Capt Adams and Gen. Pershing are great friends in part, the letter just received says: "The avidity with which the American soldiers are entering into the activities of the war on the battle line is astonishing to European armies. In the matter of grenade and bomb throwing, the Americans become proficient in but a few days' drill. I attribute this part to the American games, football and baseball, which make strategists of them all.

The dopesters are practically unanimous in handing second place in the American league race to the Red Sox. Those who disagree go further and hand them the championship. Hughey Jennings of the Tigers is one of the latter gentry. Jennings picks them on the strength of their pitching staff, holding the curving corps is stronger than ever through the addition of Joe Bush. But we aren't quite sure that Ed Barrow's crew is coming home in front, nor yet in second place. No team ever won a pennant with an uncertain infield. And if the Red Sox isn't more or less uncertain I ask you, what is?

Hoblitzel, though aging, is still an acceptable first baseman, and Scott, while he isn't a Barry by any means, will do at short. McInnis, of course is a wonderful ball player; he proved this while playing first base for the Athletics. But will he be the same shining scintillant at third—a position that is in many respects different from his old one? Barrow had pinned his hopes in Johnny Evers starting at second, but Johnny has evidenced his annual case of temperment and is no longer with the club. The veteran Heinie Wagner is back in the fold, but a youngster, Dave Shean, who came from the Reds in a trade, is cavorting around the keystone cushion.

Hoblitzel, Shean, Scott and McInnis form a better sounding combination than a playing outfit, for McInnis, whose presence would add strength to any battle array, has yet to prove that he is a third baseman and Scott and Shean have yet to prove they can work together as a fast moving, double play team at second and short. This is the one big reason we are inclined to rate the Bostonese as an uncertain proposition.

GRATIOT LEADS SUNDAY SHOOTERS

Charles Gratiot, who is making a wonderful record this season as one of the city's best marksmen, did the best shooting of the afternoon Sunday on the grounds of the Madison Gun club. He plinked 25 out of the first 25 he shot at, and missed but one of the second 25, making his score 449. The other shooters who participated were Dell, Meloy and Brockmeyer.

MIKE GIBBONS QUITS BOXING AS A BUSINESS

Mike Gibbons, known in the boxing game as the "phantom," is through with the ring sport as a business.

"I never expect to engage in another professional bout," Mike announces.

At present he is boxing instructor at Camp Dodge, Ia. Gibbons was rated as one of the most scientific boxers in the sport. As a welterweight he was practically unbeatable. When he became a middleweight he was recognized as the champion of the world.

Cincinnati boasts of a pitcher who won nineteen straight games last year. His name is "Snipe" Conley, and he is a graduate of the Dallas club of the Texas league. His successful streak began on April 19 and he wasn't beaten until July 11. In this run of nineteen straight victories Conley hurled four shutouts, his third runless game being a hitless one as well. The Fort Worth Panthers were his victims and he would have owned a perfect game only he passed their left-hander, Williams. This no-hit game was pitched on June 24 and was victory No. 17 in Conley's long list.

Two pitchers in the National league are in the spectacle class this year, it develops. Lee Meadows wears glasses when he works for the Cardinals and Proctor Hill dons the "cheaters" when he toils for the Pirates. It would be interesting to see the two face each other as opponents.

Lee Magee is going great guns with the Reds, showing no doubt the benefits of home cooking or that the National league is just his size.

BENNY LEONARD BOXES ON COAST TO BUY BOXING GLOVES FOR SOLDIERS

Benny Leonard (right) meeting admirers in San Francisco.

Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, journeyed all the way out to San Francisco to help our soldiers. He was the principal attraction at a monster boxing show that realized more than $23,000 to buy boxing gloves for Uncle Sam's fighting men.

Eighteen Universities And Colleges Entered in 1918 Conference Meet at Chicago

Total of 388 Individual Athletes Will Compete for Western Intercollegiate Honors

With 388 individual entries, representing eighteen universities and colleges in the central west, sent back to faculties of the various institutions for official ratification in scholastic work, all arrangements have been completed for the staging of the eighteenth annual outdoor track and field meet of the Western Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association on Stagg field June 8.

Besides the Big Ten universities, Kansas, Missouri, Notre Dame, Nebraska, Ames, and Drake will be represented. American School of Osteopathy of Kirksville, Mo., will send Wilbur Bohm, an unknown performer, as its representative.

Wolverines Are Favorites

The result cannot be forecast with any degree of accuracy. Michigan, which won the indoor conference meet with ease, will have a harder time because of outside competition, which is likely to cut into the Wolverines more than into other conference teams. Chicago, Wisconsin and Illinois will make strong bids, but the Wolverines have the best balanced team.

Of the nonconference squads, Notre Dame and Missouri should put up an interesting struggle. Both are represented by stars sure to score points, and these stars will be supported by teammates able to pile up enough points to make either the South Benders or the Missourians a possibility.

Prelim Events On Friday

In order to insure an early finish of the events, President Avery Brundage of the managing committee has announced that trials in five events will be held on Friday, June 7. Heats in the 440 and 880 yard runs will be decided in order to give the qualifiers a good rest before the final races. Trials in the javelin throw, discus, pole vault and hammer also will be held to reduce the field to four men for the finals.

The grenade throw, the new event on the program, will be held directly in front of the stand in order that the spectators may get a good view of the contest which is fitting athletes who may be called to go "over there."

Change in Javelin Rules

The rule governing the javelin throw has been changed. The contestants will not be allowed to throw the spear free style, but to hold it in the middle instead of at the end. The usual run before the throw will be permissable. The new rule was adopted to conform to C. A. U. rules.

Instead of the track being measured eighteen inches from the pole as in the past, the course now will be measured twelve inches from the rail. This is the track measurement for Olympic games.

Illini Beat Badgers

The Illinois track team triumphed over the Badgers in the annual dual meet at Camp Randall Saturday, the final score standing 81 1-3 to 62 2-3. A better balanced team won for the Suckers, who were particularly strong in the field events. It made the ninth victory for the Illini athletes in fifteen annual meets between the two track rivals.

BADGERS ENTER THREE TENNIS STARS IN MEET

Entries for the ninth annual tennis tournament of the Big Ten colleges, to be held at the University of Chicago courts, on May 23, 24 and 25, closed on Saturday. The following entries were received:

University of Chicago—J. J. Brotherton, H. H. Jamieson, W. R. Kramer, B. Littman, R. Pike.

University of Wisconsin—H. L. Gotfredson, E. A. Hammen, A. C. Neilson.

University of Minnesota—H. H. Adams, E. Hauser, W. F. Wicen.

University of Michigan—L. D. Egbert, H. J. Hamer.

Badgers Win Match

The Badger tennis team, led by Capt. A. C. Nielson, won over the Michigan net men Saturday in easy shape, taking the doubles and one match of singles. The matches showed some spectacular flashes of playing at times, but wet courts slowed up both teams.

The conference tournament will be held in Chicago May 23 and 24. The Badger team, consisting of Captain Nielson, Hammen, and Gotfredson, will leave Wednesday for the Windy City. An omission was made in the report of the meet with Chicago on Saturday May 11, when the Wisconsin players won from the Maroons in the doubles, 6—1; 6—4.

GREEN BAY—Four boys of this city, Robert Ducksteau, Reuben Leiner, Louis Van Vonderen and Fred Benefty have been accepted in the junior camp to open in Camp Steever, Lake Geneva, June 17, it was announced by Judge Henry Graass, recruiting officer. Intensive military training will be given for two weeks in the camp.

GULLICKSON OUT FOR PROSECUTOR

Announces Candidacy for Nomination on Republican Ticket

G. O. Gullickson, familiarly known as "Gay," today announces his intention of seeking the republican nomination to the office of district attorney at the primaries next fall.

Mr. Gullickson is well known to Madison and Dane county. He was born and raised in the city of Eau Claire, and upon completing his secondary school education there was employed by the Northern Pacific railway in Montana. In 1910 he entered the University of Wisconsin and by sheer pluck and determination succeeded in working and paying his expenses through a seven-year college course, four years in commerce and three years in law. The degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws were conferred upon him. He made a good record at the university in scholarship, debating and administration. For two years he served as business manager of the Daily Cardinal, placing it upon a firm financial and operative basis. He is a capable and effective speaker, and is an unceasing and untiring worker. He is a member of the Dane county bar, and up to March 1st of this year was with the Aylward & Olbrich law firm, and is now associated with Attorney Albert G. Michelson in the practice of law.

RECOUNT DECISION EXPECTED SOON

Matter Will be Disposed of by Judge Stevens Within Few Days

A decision on the temporary injunction restraining the mayor and holdover aldermen from canvassing the ballots cast in the last election on the wet and dry question, is expected to be rendered by Judge E. Ray Stevens in circuit court within the next two days.

Arguments on the motions to vacate and also on the demurrers to the complaint filed by Attorney Frank Gilbert, representing M. H. Hovey of the dry league, have been heard and on Saturday, briefs were filed, which was the last action prior to the rendering of a decision.

Attorney Ralph W. Jackman, representing A. M. Peltier, and City Attorney William Ryan, representing the Mayor and Holdover aldermen, filed their brief's with the court late Friday afternoon.

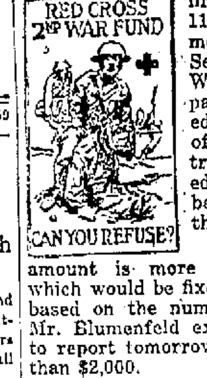
CAPITOL FIRST IN WITH RED CROSS FUNDS

Contribution Amounts to $1,151, Subscribed in First Three Hours

Chairman M. F. Blumenfeld of the state capitol committee made the first report at 11:30 o'clock this morning in the Second Red Cross War fund campaign which showed that about half of the capitol contributions tabulated $1,151.50 had been subscribed in three hours.



Although this amount is more than the quota which would be fixed for the capitol, based on the number of employes Mr. Blumenfeld expects to be able to report tomorrow a total of more than $2,000.

One department, the railroad commission, reported a total of $501 subscribed this morning.

It is expected that the capitol will be entitled to a 100 per cent rank when the campaign is over and Chairman Blumenfeld expects this to be accomplished before the end of another day.

City committees started the day in every section with a determination to go over the top quickly. The first tabulation will be made Tuesday morning when all chairmen will meet at headquarters. There have been many large donations, the largest being $1,500.

Subscribers who signed pledge cards have until October first to make their final payment, the first payment being due July 1 and thereafter on August, September and October 1. It is noticeable that in the early reports of the capitol many people are paying cash with their subscriptions. Money all will go through the hands of the Local Red Cross committee and payments on pledges will be made through the same channel.

One feature of this campaign which should appeal to all citizens is the fact that every cent subscribed goes to the Red Cross. Local expenses are being kept down to the minimum and these will be paid by Private contributions which will be in addition to the money given to the Red Cross.

The managers of the local campaign were fortunate in having the best object lesson possible shown the people when the troops from Camp Grant marched through the city this morning. The thousands who stood along the streets and cheered the soldiers as they left on their long hike to Sparta were able to understand what giving to the Red Cross means. It is expected that the visit of the soldiers will greatly increase the interest in the campaign and result in the city's going over the top in record time.

OBITUARY

MRS. NELS THOMPSON

Mrs. Nels Thompson, 1810 Elmside boulevard, died suddenly at her home Sunday noon, when she just fell over in her chair after dinner. Mrs. Thompson was born at Pleasant Springs, Wis., May 30, 1855. She lived on a farm at Blooming Grove for 43 years, moving to Madison four years ago.

She is survived by her husband, six daughters, and three sons. The daughters are Mrs. John O'Neill, Mrs. Albert Sperle, both of Madison; Mrs. Milo Moore, McFarland; Mrs. E. J. Hyland, of this city; and Edith and Nellie at home. The sons are Jerome, Blooming Grove; Arthur, Madison; and John, Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. M. S. Haven, Pleasant Springs, and a brother, K. K. Soiney, Blooming Grove.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 1 o'clock from the home and at 2:30 from the McFarland Lutheran church. The Rev. Holden M. Olson of this city will officiate. Burial will be at the church cemetery.

MRS. OSCAR L. ENGEL

Mrs. Oscar L. Engel, 613 Oakridge avenue, died at her residence Monday morning at 1:30 o'clock from a complication of diseases. She had been ill for the last year and a half. She was 34 years old. She is survived by her husband; two sons, Bertrand and Richard, at home; mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stelter of this city; four sisters, Mrs. William Comstock, Mrs. Ed Carnes, Mrs. Harry Murray and Martha Stelter, all of this city; and two brothers; Frank and Fred of this city.

DAVID R. LYLE

The funeral services for David R. Lyle were held from the home, 234 Langdon street, at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The Rev. Karl von Krug of the Westminster church officiated. The pall bearers were Joseph Hobbins, W. C. Tracy, C. F. Burgess, Anthony Carnegie, Marsh and George Gove.

MRS. MATHILDA ERICKSON

The funeral services of Mrs. Mathilda Erickson, wife of Bernard Erickson, were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the home, 511 West Dayton street, the Rev. Morton G. Stone of St. Francis' Episcopal church officiating.

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

ROMAN HEILMAN

Roman Heilmann has made formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for district attorney. Mr. Heilmann was born in Madison, receiving his education here, at the Madison high school and the University of Wisconsin, and has been engaged in the active practice of the law in the city of Madison for the past five years. He is well known in the city and county and has a circle of acquaintances who have urged him to become a candidate. He is a son of George Heilmann, who for over 30 years conducted a bakery and restaurant on East Main street. He is married and is a property owner and a tax payer.

Mr. Heilmann was a candidate for the nomination to the same office at the 1916 primary but was defeated by Mr. Gunderson. In the 1916 primary Mr. Heilmann received a Madison, carrying every ward except the sixth and receiving a majority of about 500 votes in the city. strong endorsement in the city of Because of this endorsement and upon the urgent solicitation of some of the leading members of the Dane County bar, Mr. Heilmann has decided to become a candidate.

SALVATION ARMY TO RAISE FUNDS

Campaign for $5,000 to be Started in City on June 3

A Salvation army war fund campaign will be opened in Madison, June 3, with the aim of raising $5,000 in two days. E. B. Steensland is chairman of the committee in charge with John St. John vice chairman. Don E. Mowry is in charge of the publicity.

The work of the Salvation army in the warring ones is similar to that of the Y. M. C. A. They provide huts where hot coffee and food is served, a supply of writing paper and reading material always on hand, and other comforts are ready for the soldiers.

Captain David Fallon, M. C., British and Australian forces, describes the work of the Salvation army in the following words:

"On the note paper, so liberally given us by the Salvationists, many a letter has been written. . . When these letters come back to some poor mother, wife, or sweetheart, when they see it was written on Salvation army paper, they will regret if they have shirked their responsibility in this drive or any drive which the Salvation army must make from time to time.

MINISTERS TO TALK ON SAVING FOOD

Sermons Next Sunday to Urge Conservation of Wheat Supply

Sermons on food conservation will be preached from the pulpit of every Protestant church in the state next Sunday at the special request of the food administration. The Madison Ministerial association met in the senate rooms of the capitol Monday morning at the call of Magnus Swenson. A. H. Melville, secretary of the state food administration, spoke to them on the plans of the state campaign for the food sermon next Sunday asking that the doing without wheat until the next harvest be especially emphasized.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TO MEET IN CITY

Dokey Ceremonial Will be Held at Assembly Chamber

In the neighborhood of 350 Tyros and Votaries are expected to attend the Dokey ceremonial which is to be held by Monona lodge No. 12, Knights of Pythias, on Thursday afternoon in the assembly chamber. Delegations are expected from various cities of the state and great rivalry is being shown by the different lodges in the matter of attendance.

C. A. Achtenberg is in charge of the work at the Madison end and is doing the secretarial work for the entire district for Kanana Temple of La Crosse, which is coming here to confer the work.

The rank of knight is to be conferred upon five members at the meeting. These members are anxious to get through so that they may take the Dokey rank Thursday night.

Minor details are to be completed at a meeting of Monona lodge, Tuesday night.

ARMY SERVICE SAVES JAIL TERM

The fact that he has been ordered to leave with the next contingent of men leaving for Camp Grant on May 25, was all that haved Parker Lee, charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated, from being given a thirty day jail sentence by Judge A. C. Hoppmann in Superior court, Monday morning. Lee was arrested by Chief Shaughnessy while driving his automobile in a reckless manner about the square Saturday night. The court imposed a fine of $25 and costs, which Lee paid.

WOOL CLIP PRICES FIXED BY U. S.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The war industries board has fixed the price of the 1918 wool clip at the prices established June 30, 1917, at Atlantic seaboard markets on the scoured basis.

The government is to have prior rights on the clip for its needs at those prices and the remainder is subject to allocation for other uses under the direction of the board. As he needs of the government require concentration of wool close to points of consumption, distributing centers have been approved at which wool may be distributed only.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK—Recessions during the first hour today on a marked slackening of operations after the initial outburst ranged from 1 to 2 points in United States Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Marine preferred, Mexican Petroleum, Texas company and some of the rails. Meanwhile, an extension of early gains was made by Atlantic Gulf, Industrial Alcohol, Distillers' and Central Leather. Price movements became more erratic toward midday, equipments and shippings rallying sharply only to fall back again. Liberty 3½'s sold at 98.98 to 99; first 4's at 95.04 to 95.06; second 4's at 94.90 to 94.96 and 4¼'s at 97.62 to 97.90.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO—Corn prices developed strength today owing largely to unsettled cooler weather adverse to rapid progress in planting. Selling pressure was light, and the market advanced readily on scattered buying orders from commission houses. Some bullish sentiment was due to the large percentage of damaged corn in current arrivals. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c lower to ½c advance, with May 1.27¾ and July 1.40¾ to 1.41, were followed by material gains.

Congestion in the May delivery tightened up the oats market in general. Demand, however, was confined chiefly to small lots. After opening ⅛c off to ¼@⅜c up, with July 65¾ to 66¼@⅜, the market continued to harden.

Provisions rose with hogs. Arrivals at the yards here were less numerous than had been looked for.

SHOE MACHINERY COMPANY WINS

Supreme Court Gives Decision in Government's Anti-Trust Case

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United Shoe Machinery company today won its case in the supreme court against the government's anti-trust action.

The court not only approved the legal organization of the shoe machinery company, but also the much-contested "tying leases."

The government's suit, appealed to the supreme court after it had been lost in the lower courts, was ordered dismissed. The decision applies to the company and all its subsidiaries.

FARRELL ASKS TO AID IN WAR WORK

ASKS HIGH COURT TO REVIEW DRAFT CASE

WASHINGTON — Alleging that his claim for deferred classification in the draft have been ignored, George O. Kitzerow, Milwaukee, in original proceedings instituted, asked the supreme court to direct the district court for eastern Wisconsin to review his case.

Kitzerow claimed invalid parents were dependent upon him.

A number of draft cases have been appealed but this is the first of its kind to reach the supreme court.

DRAFT EXAMINATIONS TO BE LESS RIGID

(By the Associated Press)

ST. PAUL — Official information received from Washington by the state adjutant general today forecast the issuance of new regulations to government physical examination of draft registrants. It is understood that the new regulations will dispose of many difficulties now existing.

The dispatch ordered that local boards be instructed not to induct for general military service, registrants having hernia, or teeth in poor condition. The dispatch indicated that certain physical standards are to be revised.

TURNVEREIN WANTS STATE CAMP SITE

GREEN BAY—Establishment of a camp for state turnvereon classes was proposed by the Wisconsin Turnverein, at its closing session of the annual convention here yesterday.

Three officers of the state organization and one representative of each society in the state will comprise a committee selected yesterday to decide upon a site.

Over $200 was subscribed yesterday toward a fund to buy the camp site.

ET COAL IS WARNING OF ITZGERALD

Dane County Fuel Administrator Gets Letter Telling of Surplus on Hand

MUST ACT NOW

Also Says That Outside Lights in Daytime Are Wasteful

Users of bituminous coal are urged to secure their coal at once by W. N. Fitzgerald, state fuel administrator. He sent a letter to all county fuel administrators.

"It is now possible to secure coal," says the letter to the Dane county fuel administrator.

"In some sections of our country, the mines are not working on account of lack of orders and these mines work only to fill orders. It is your duty to keep them busy this summer to the end that your wants for the coming winter will be fully supplied. Cars and motive power to move them are now to be had, but as the season advances, it will be more and more difficult to secure the necessary cars to transport the coal. You must, therefore, appreciate how essential it is that you secure your coal at once. By securing coal, I mean not only placing your orders, but by having a surplus brought to your plant.

"Next fall, when the cold weather settles down upon us, you should have at least sixty days' supply on hand. The surest way to prevent trouble next winter in your plant is to order your coal now and anticipate your wants as far as you possibly can.

"We wish to call your attention to the wasteful practice on the part of moving picture theaters, stores and others of turning on exterior lights during the daylight hours. For instance, electric signs advertising the attractions at the theaters, canopy lights, etc., are illuminated during the daytime all the way from twelve o'clock noon to six o'clock in the evening. This practice is totally unwarranted, and in view of the daylight saving plan now in operation, it is absolutely unnecessary and a total disregard of the spirit of the times in the matter of conservation, to burn exterior lights of any description until after sunset."

PERSHING'S MEN RANK THIRD IN MILEAGE HELD

A. E. F. Has Become Important Factor on Western Battle Front

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The American expeditionary force has become such a military factor on the western battle front, members of the senate committee were advised at their weekly conference with Secretary Baker and the war council, that they now rank third in the mileage held.

The French hold the most mileage, the British rank second and the Americans third, exceeding the mileage held by the Belgians.

The front line forces of General Pershing, the senators were told, are divided among four sectors, all on what is known as the French front, but other American troops are at the front as well as behind the lines in training, with both British and French forces.

The exact front mileage in charge of the American forces was disclosed to the committee, but was not made public for military reasons. The senators, however expressed great gratification at the extent of American front line activity. One of the four American sectors, near Montdidier, was said to be of much activity and importance in the allied plans.

The officers described in detail the aircraft situation at the American fronts. Reports on aircraft production in this country were said by senators later still to be disappointing, without much improvement in the general situation.

Improvement in ordnance and other production was reported by the war council, which arranged to have the military sub-committee investigating the ordnance situation, visit the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds next Tuesday.

American troops are being sent abroad with great rapidity. The transportation outlook was said to be promising although problems of supplying the American forces abroad are said to be increasing because of the rapidly mounting size of the American expeditions.

"HELLO GIRLS" TOO BUSY TO BE ALARM CLOCKS

Local Telephone Officials Considering Abolishment of Time Accommodations

Persons who have been in the habit of calling the telephone operator in the past and taking up her time with the query of "Time please?" and those who have been using the "Hello Girl" as an alarm clock, had better be making different arrangements for the local heads of the Wisconsin Telephone company are considering shutting down on the practice.

That the practice was a heavy burden to the company and besides caused the girls to lose much valuable time in looking at the clock so as to give the correct time, was the opinion of T. N. Moore, Madison district manager.

"And not only that," continued Mr. Moore, "when we undertake to call a person at a certain hour, they expect us to assume the responsibility should anything go wrong and they are not called at the exact time.

"Why, only here recently, a certain physician asked if we would call him at a certain time and we offered to accommodate him. Something happened that he was not called until a little later than the time agreed upon and he insisted that we accept the responsibility. That is only one example of what we have to contend with and we are seriously considering the discontinuance of the practice."

But while the company officials are considering the abolishment of the accommodation, Madisonians who have become so accustomed to depending on the telephone girl for their time have already invented a method of circumventing the threatened action of the company officials. Here is the plan:

Take down the receiver, and, when the operator answers, address her in a raucous voice, thusly: "Blinkety-blank-blink-blank. This is a nice time to answer. I've been waiting here for twenty minutes, ever since 9:30."

Like a flash will come the answer: "Why, it's only 9 o'clock now."

There you'll have the time. Easy, isn't it?

AMERICANS APPEAR ON CANADIAN LIST

(By the Associated Press)

OTTAWA—The names of the following Americans appear in to-day's Canadian casualty list:

Wounded: A. Antossin, Plummer, Minn.; J. Andrews, Port Huron, Mich.

WAUSAU — Several thousand circulars are being distributed by the county council of defense in Marathon county telling of the use of potatoes in cooking.

U. S. LICENSE WARNING ISSUED

Some Businesses Must Have Permits by June 1 Under New Rules

Get your license on or before June 1st!

If you fail to secure a license, a penalty prescribed by congress will be insurred.

All business men should ascertain whether or not their business is subject to the new regulations for licenses. In its wartime food preservation work, the food administration of Wisconsin has found it necessary to extend its list of licensed occupations and to demand the owners of businesses, formerly exempt to register and procure licenses. Wider latitude in the control of distribution is given to the food administration of Wisconsin by extending its license authority.

Many manufacturers in Wisconsin will be affected by the proclamation ruling all manufacturers of near beer or other fermented beverages containing less than one-half per cent alcohol to register and get licenses. Others in this state must obtain a license for poultry and egg packing plants; those doing an annual business of $50,000 or more are already licenses. The new proclamation brings all others into the same class.

The regulations regarding cotton seed have also been changed. Previously, only handlers of cotton seed whose annual business exceeds 150 tons were licensed. Now all who handle more than 20 tons come under the recent proclamation, importers, manufacturers, or distributors of cotton seed hulls and owners of elevators, warehouses or other places for storage of cotton seed hulls are licensed in order to stabilize the business and eliminate any advantage they might have had over those who handled licensed cotton by-products.

In the fish industry, packers of canned tuna fish packers of mild and hard cured, salted, dried, smoked or otherwise preserved salmon must all be included in the proclamation.

Application for license must be made to license division, Washington, or forms prepared for that purpose which may be secured on request. No exemptions can be made from the above list except for retailers doing business of less than $100,000 per year, common carriers associations or others with respect to the products of any farms, garden or land owned, leased or cultivated by them.

DOES NOT FAVOR NEW BAKERIES

Food Administration Discourages New Ones Because of Wheat Shortage

With regard to baking licenses, the baking division is particularly anxious not to have new bakeries starting up, owing to the great shortage of wheat. The baking division of the United States food administration has submitted the following paragraph which may be of assistance in communicating with applicants for bakers' licenses, or in discussing the matter with them.

"The supply of wheat in the United States is very low. Every available pound must be sent to Europe. The people of the United States have been asked to reduce their consumption of wheat by at least one-half and those who are able to do so, to go without entirely until the next harvest. The bakers of the United States have been asked not to increase their production of bread. We have received a ready response to these requests. To permit new bakeries to open or to cater to increased business would be decidedly unfair to the baker who has pledged himself not to increase his business. The necessary saving of wheat which is made by the old baker would be entirely lost. We, therefore, feel that in the interests of the soldiers of our army and the armies of the allies and the brave people of France and England who are supporting them, that your request for a license to operate a bakery before the next harvest is unjust. In the same spirit as the others are giving, will you not withdraw your request?"

FARMERS TO WORK FOR CASH PRIZES

Security State Bank to Encourage Better Grain

An incentive for greater production of the best grades of grains in this richly productive section of Wisconsin is to be created by the corn and wheat contest of the Security State bank. It is the intention of the directors of the bank to hold an open contest with simple rules to permit the farmers of adjacent townships to win liberal cash prizes as rewards for their efforts in raising food.

About $150 will be given in prizes. There will be three contests: the spring wheat contest, golden glow corn, and the silver king wheat contest. The prizes in each case will be $25 for the first prize, $15 for the second, and $10 for the third.

All contests are open to any farmer residing in Burke, Blooming Grove, and the adjuavent townships. One contestant can compete for prizes in all contests. The specimens must be tagged and handed into the bank on or before November 15, 1918. The corn will be exhibited in 10 ear lots, and the grain in not less than peck samples. All grains and corn must be grown in the year of 1918 on two or more acres.

Members of the agricultural college, University of Wisconsin, will decide the value of the specimens and will award the prizes.
